

SAILORS ARRESTED IN WESTERLY

Charged With Sleeping in a Box Car—Told Straight Forward Story Before Court and Were Given Their Freedom—Local Brevities.

Two Danish sailors, George Steinhart, 26, and Anthei Kalyus, 33, were before Judge Oliver H. Williams in the Third District court, Friday, charged with trespassing on railroad property and sleeping in a freight car. They are both men of good appearance, straightforward in their talk and do not bear any impress of the professional tramp or even the temporary laxy nomad. Agent Smith stated to the court that the freight yards have been the rendezvous for tramps during the night season and when disturbed in the early morning by the moving of cars, the fellows deliberately stoned the freight crews. Thursday night an officer of the company and a local police officer made a search of the yard for that class of undesirable intruders, and it so happened that at that particular time the two Danish sailors were the only visitors and they were found asleep in a box car and placed under arrest.

The sailors had been together four months as shipmates, but were acquainted with each other in the old country. They were very cooperative in their story and stated that since the war had commenced they were unable to get work and had spent all the money they possessed while in Boston. They decided to walk to New York in expectation of being able to ship at that port, and arrived in Westerly at nine o'clock Thursday night. They were told that they would not be lodged in the police station and were directed to the freight yard and into a box car where they laid down and went to sleep until they were arrested, and for the first time, they said, they had money.

They were hungry and slept and sought the box car for rest. In response to query from Judge Williams the sailors said they had nothing to eat for two days, except apples. Judge Williams informed the sailors that the law prescribed a minimum penalty of six months in the state work house for the offense with which they were charged, and Steinhardt replied: "We can't help it, we had no money and were nearly exhausted because we can't pay car fare, and went into the freight car because we could not pay for lodging. We hope to get things when we get to New York."

Judge Williams, after carefully inquiring into the history of the young sailors and believing in their honesty, warned them to keep away from railroad property and released them from custody, but not until he arranged with Chief Brown to give the men a substantial breakfast before they started out on the way to New York.

Santa Gabrielle, brought a suit in assault and battery against her brother-in-law, Joseph Gabrielle. She claimed that Joe struck her three times and that as a result medical attendance was required. The case was given hearing and Judge Williams reserved decision.

Henry B. Joy, of Detroit, Michigan, perhaps the oldest summer resident of Watch Hill, for he came as a boy with his parents and summered at the Larkin house at a time when summer cottages were a rarity at that resort. He is president of the Packard Motor company and brother-in-law of Truman Newberry, former assistant secretary of the navy, who is also a Watch Hill cottager. Mr. Joy, writing from Watch Hill to Leslie's Weekly says:

"The establishment of a subsidized American Merchant Marine on a basis profitable to everyone is the most important of the restoration of proper protective tariff principles. The United States merchant marine should have many imperators. Vessels and tonnage to carry what was $2,500,000 of export trade, under a protective tariff. Why pay all our freight to maintain vessels for the use of foreign nations in time of war could there ever possibly be a more favorable exposition of the wisdom and necessity of a subsidized merchant fleet than this existing conditions in Europe disclose? Heaven promise us from those well-meaning, good-intentioned people, who have so far coast American industry more than any war every cost."

The letter brings this comment: "Mr. Joy presents a question of tremendous importance. With millions of bushels of wheat in the west awaiting the market in Europe and with hundreds of thousands of bales of cotton in the south eager for sale, but with not ships to carry them across the sea, the urgent need of a merchant marine must be profoundly impressed upon the people of the west and south who have heretofore bitterly opposed every effort to revive the American Merchant Marine."

Local Laconics.
Herbert Gaffney, of New London, was in Westerly, Friday.

Three weddings are booked in Westerly for the first three days of next month.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Howard Clarke have as their guest, Miss Mildred Cook, of East Orange, N. J.

Mrs. Alexander Smith will be the speaker at the People's mission Sunday evening service.

Henry McNelly, of New Bedford, is the guest of his sister, Miss Katie McNelly of Summer street.

No more hustle and bustle in Dixon square since the trolley terminal was changed to the railway station.

Daniel J. Reardon and son, of Andover, Alabama, is the guest of John Reardon, at his home in Wilcox park.

Rev. W. W. Harris of Chelsea, Mass., will supply the pulpit of the First Baptist church, Sunday morning and evening.

Rev. William J. Smith of North Grosvenordale, will preach in Grave Methodist Episcopal church Sunday morning.

John Stanton, superintendent of the farm for imbeciles in Exeter, is in Westerly, the guest of his son, John C. Stanton.

When the sky darkened just before three o'clock Friday afternoon, and a storm threatened, there was a sudden drop in temperature of fifteen degrees in Westerly.

A shark was actually seen at Pleasant View beach, Friday. It was a dead one; came in with the tide and was towed well off shore by early morning bathers.

Rev. Joseph L. Peacock will supply the pulpit of the Seventh Day church, Saturday morning. The pastor, Rev. C. A. Burdick, is attending the general conference in Alfred, N. Y.

Isaac Jones, for many years night watchman at the White Rock Pumping station, is quite sick. He is in Westerly, he recently returned from Boston where he received the attention of a specialist.

There is no place for lodgers at the Westerly Police station and there is severe penalty for sleeping in barns, freight cars or in the open, so the unfortunate homeless try to evade Westerly after sunset.

While golf and tennis are the prevailing sports at Watch Hill, there is a regulation roque ground connected with one of the new cottages on East Side. The game has many admirers and is played at Watch Hill in accordance with the English rules.

Once an office-holder, always an office-holder, is the rule rather than the exception in Westerly. This is due to the dominance of one political party that gets good men for office and keeps them in office so long as they remain good. This applies to state as well as local officials.

At the annual session of the Westerly Pat Men's association, these officers were elected: Alan A. Palmer, of Westerly, president; Frank Whit, of North Stonington, vice president; E. Holt Bentley, of Westerly, secretary and treasurer; Nathan P. Nowes, of Westerly, chaplain; Henry Lanphear, of Mystic, and James W. Murphy, of Chelsea, F. Berry, of Westerly, committee on arrangements.

Charles Arnold Porter, who died Monday at his home in Providence, was buried on Thursday and relatives and friends from Westerly attended the funeral. He was born in Westerly and leaves a widow, two daughters and a son. He was a brother of Mrs. Charles W. Williams and a nephew of Harriet B. Collins, and a nephew of Albert B. Pendleton, Miss Harriet Pendleton and Mrs. Adeline P. Chapman, at Watch Hill.

Mrs. George A. Clarke of Lyme, who is guest of Mrs. Sarah Darrow of New London, spent Friday with Mrs. Darrow at Watch Hill and Westerly, and enjoyed the trolley ride around the loop by way of Norwich. Mrs. Darrow will attend the annual reunion of the Seventh Connecticut regiment at Norwalk, next Thursday and will then

STONINGTON

Claimed They Were Chased by German Vessels—Dr. Little Weds North Adams Girl—Other Happenings.

Some sailors from a British tramp steamer were in Stonington on Thursday and called at one or two of the stores in the borough for the purpose of making small purchases. The name of their vessel was not stated, but they said that they had been obliged to come in from the high seas for fear of capture by German vessels, two of which, they said, had been several miles off shore. They stopped here but a few hours and then went back to the steamer in their motorboat. The vessel is thought to have continued eastward down the coast, although the men did not say what their destination was.

WEDDING.
Little—Moore.

The wedding of Dr. Herman C. Little, who has been a practicing physician in the borough for about a year, to Miss Agnes Moore, daughter of Mrs. Abbie Moore of North Adams, Mass., occurred Wednesday afternoon at the First Congregational church at North Adams. The ceremony was attended by the relatives and a few intimate friends of the bride and groom. After a short honeymoon, Dr. and Mrs. Little will make their home in the Ocho O'Sullivan house in Main street.

The vestry where the ceremony occurred had been tastefully decorated with goldenrod, clematis and maple leaves by friends of the bride. Jesse Hadfield, organist of the church, played the Lohengrin wedding march as the bride party entered and during the ceremony Miss Alberta McLeod played several violin selections. Miss Helen M. Moore, sister of the bride, Elizabeth Beadle and Louise Beadle, of Leominster, preceded the bride party to the vestry of the church. Miss Edith Little of Meriden sang "Gypsy Trail." The bride's gown was crepe de chine with white lace trimming. The maid of honor wore white chiffon over lace. A wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's mother at which light refreshments were served.

Busy Session of Town Court.
Automobiles, motorcycles and horse-drawn vehicles, the owners of which were alleged violators of the law, occupied the attention of Judge Bred in the Stonington town court, Friday morning. Arthur T. Bishop of Boston, arrested Aug. 19 for oversteering his automobile, by State Policemen Rudi and Cleveland, pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs, amounting in all to $27.48.

Paul Lanphere of Mystic, arrested Thursday evening by Policemen Cleveland and Bishop, pleaded guilty to having no operator's license and no registration for his motorcycle. He was fined $5 and costs, amounting to $18.48, which he paid.

Amer Omigny of Mystic, also arrested by Policemen Cleveland, was charged with the same infractions of the law as Lanphere. He pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs, amounting to $18.48, and given until Aug. 31 to pay.

James Cleland and Charles Haskell of Mystic were arrested Thursday evening by Policemen Cleveland, charged with having no lights on their bicycles. Attorney Frank H. Hines appeared for Cleland. On motion of the prosecuting attorney, the cases were nolle. It was shown to the court that the men were driving on a long highway street, where their vehicles could be plainly seen.

Special Meeting Held.
A special meeting of Stonington Steam Fire Engine company was held Thursday evening, at which a check was connected with the recent celebration were wound up. COLCHESTER
Results of 1914 Potato Venture—188 Bushels Raised and Net Profit of $64.48 Realized—Local Notes and Personals.

On the advice of the Connecticut Agricultural College, the club planted potatoes on the same piece of ground as last year. They seeded the land with rye last fall, so that a good cover crop to plant under, to a depth of about 8 inches. Maine grown, Irish Cobbler seed was used. After treatment with the formaldehyde solution, to pieces containing at least two strong eyes. A little planting was done April 22nd, but the bulk of it was planted between May 2nd and 9th, the season being somewhat backward.

The seed was dropped in furrows 4-5 inches deep. After a fertilizer of 4-3-2 strength had been spread and mixed in the furrows. Pieces were planted every 12 inches apart. The rows were approximately 30 inches apart. The seed was then covered with about 2 inches of earth. They employed level culture in order to conserve the soil moisture, and only a small amount of hoeing had to be done. More applications of lead and bordeaux were made by spraying, with a compressed air pump. The earliest potatoes were dug July 13th, the later ones from July 20th to August 10th. They all yielded 220 bushels, 128 of which were sold in the local market the other 102 bushels in Willimantic by a commission merchant. The purpose of the club has been to show the boys of Colchester that farming operations are capable of making a good money return, and that the farm, as well as the city office and the store, needs and demands all the skill that a man has.

Boys are usually anxious to make money. If it can be demonstrated to them that working in and with the soil is as honorable and clean as any other business, and that there is a good return on a man's investment, boys will be more apt to think of farming as a vacation worthy of choice. The financial report is as follows:

Expenditures—Seed and treatment, $2.19; plowing and harrowing, $6.25; planting, $19.50; fertilizer (12 ton), $19.50; cultivation, $6.65; spraying, $12.22; harvesting and marketing, $23.87.

Receipts—To sale of 230 bushels potatoes, $189.06. The net profit then is $64.48. This sum, together with labor made for the season, which was $55.05, has been divided among the members on the basis of the amount of work which each did. Besides the fifteen cents per bushel, which he received for his labor, he receives seventeen cents per hour in profits for each hour of labor. He invested his labor and received 113 per cent. on the investment.

Personal Mention.
O. H. A. Milhan of Brooklyn, N. Y., is at his summer home on Elm street.

A. C. Kramer has a gang of twelve men at work on the new state road putting sand on the oil which is being spread.

S. H. Kellogg was the guest of friends in Hartford Thursday.

New Pool Table.
An expert from the Brunswick-Bike-Collender Co., has been engaged to place a new pool table in the club rooms of St. Mary's T. A. B. society, and it is expected that this week in place of a new pool table, will be ready for use the first of next week.

Personals.
Miss Irene Sullivan, of Main street, was a recent visitor at Block Island, R. I.

William Caron, of High street, has been spending the week in Waterbury, the guest of friends.

Wipe Taftville Off Map?
This (Saturday) afternoon, on Sayles' Field, the final game of the series between Taftville and Baltic will be played, and the game promises to bring a record crowd to the grounds. The Baltic management has something up its sleeve, and this "something" promises to wipe Taftville off the map.

But it is admitted here that Baltic will not be too hard on Taftville, as it will do no good to win games, for the simple reason that Manager of Hughes, of the All-Stars might be jealous at another team claiming to be the same class as his "Champions".

Miss Margaret Miley, of High street, is spending two weeks' vacation at the Barber family, which will be held at the town hall. About 100 persons attended, nearly every town in this section.

Tacoma has forbidden treating in saloons.

PLAINFIELD

Rocky Point Popular Among Plainfield People—Gathered About the Village.

Mrs. Arthur Mathewson recently entertained Mrs. Annie Bulkeley, Mrs. Turner Greene and Mrs. Russell Briggs. A very enjoyable day was spent.

Rocky Point calls a lot of our people now, as the season is about over. Sundays and weekdays auto loads are going. Fine place for an outing.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Briggs from Minnesota are visiting Herbert Gallup and Turner Greene. He will be remembered by many old friends, having spent his younger days around here.

Mrs. Bulkeley returned to her home last Monday after a very enjoyable visit with friends for several weeks.

Slowly Improving.
Turner and Elmer Greene visited a brother Odd Fellow, Samuel Cooper, of Brooklyn, recently. Mr. Cooper has been ill several weeks, but is improving slowly.

Mrs. Herbert Brown and son have been visitors at Turner Greene's.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner Greene are visiting relatives in Southbridge and Chardon this week.

Miss Agnes Nolan is enjoying a two weeks' vacation. Miss Edith Peterson is taking her place as bookkeeper.

Mrs. Fannie Caswell is spending the week end with her son below New London.

Mrs. Andrew Peterson has returned from a visit at Centerville, R. I.
